Tips

- It's a good idea to wear disposable gloves when peeling and grating beetroot, as it will stain your skin. If you are using a wooden chopping board, wash it as soon as possible after using it. Scrubbing the board with coarse cooking salt should help remove any stubborn stains.
- The same amount of coarsely grated carrot can be substituted for beetroot.
- Sultanas, chopped raisins, or finely chopped seeded dates could be substituted for currants.
- Storage: - Cake can be kept in an airtight container for up to 1 week, or in a refrigerator for up to 3 weeks. Cake can be frozen for 3 months.
